15th Anniversary Celebration

Since its inception in 2006, the Catholic Community Foundation of Mid- Michigan has been helping people help others through gifts that serve programs and ministries provided throughout the Catholic Diocese of Saginaw and beyond. To this day an additional 223 endowments for parishes, schools and Diocesan ministries have been created!

It is with great joy that we announce that this year marks the 15th Anniversary of the Catholic Community Foundation of Mid-Michigan serving the communities of the Diocese of Saginaw. Over the last 15 years donor investments have resulted in over $12.0 million in support of parishes, schools and diocesan ministries!

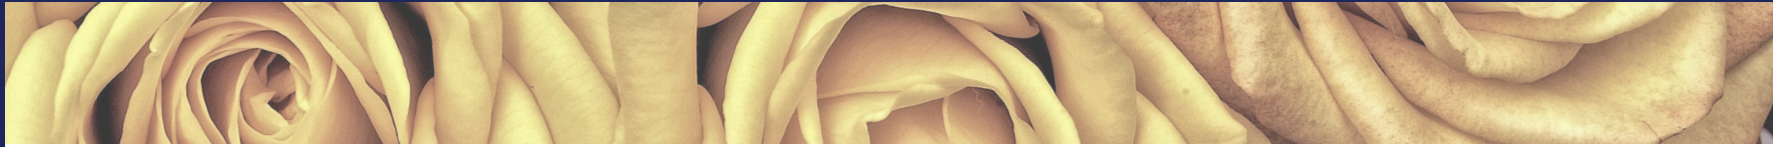

As a Staff, we express our sincere gratitude to all those who have been apart of the fruitful journey of the Catholic Community Foundation of Mid-Michigan.

*“Rejoice always, pray without ceasing, give thanks in all circumstances;
for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you.”*

1 Thessalonians 5:16-18

Golden Girls with Golden Hearts:

They lived frugally, with a noble end-goal in sight. Two of the three sisters never married. They saved and dreamed of how they could help the poor and the Catholic Church they so loved. The Koncavich (Kun-ca'-vich) sisters - Stella, Mary, and Helen, at their deaths, left a nearly $1 million estate to the Catholic Community Foundation of Mid-Michigan (CCFMM) in 2010. The CCFMM Koncavich Fund was created as a living legacy to these three special sisters.

Lovingly named the “Golden Girls” by the Bay City parishioners of Saint Stanislaus Kostka Church, these remarkable Polish women were born in Mullan, Idaho, to parents Alexander and Agnes (Rzesutkow) Koncavich: Mary, born in 1913; Helen, 1914; and Stella, 1917. Blessed with longevity, the Koncavich sisters lived very modestly for decades so they could donate the money they saved to serve the poor and needy in the Saginaw Catholic Diocese.

Pat Ueberroth, a parishioner at St. Stan's (now part of Our Lady of Czestochowa Parish), remembers that any time an appeal was made for the missions or other worthy causes, the Koncavich donation was always on the large end. She adds, the three sisters were “funny, sweet, and real ladies.”

Close in age and life-long Catholics, the Koncavich Golden Girls must have had a remarkable upbringing for the way they lived out their faith. According to Fr. Bill Rutkowski, who knew the sisters well, “their Catholic faith was very serious to them - it was the heart of their lives.”

Mary, the oldest of the sisters, born in 1913, was 89 when she passed away in 2002 after a long life of service to parish and community. She was especially devoted to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and belonged to Bay City's St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, where she was a member of the

Faithful Stewards of God's Gifts

Rosary/Altar Sodality #6, St. Anne's Society, and Golden Horizons. Fr. Bill notes that "Mary was the quiet one, and she had a wonderful smile!"

Helen (Crevia), born a year after Mary, in 1914, was the only one of the three girls to marry. She married Leo Maxwell Crevia on September 14, 1935, and they were married nearly 50 years until his death in 1985. They had no children. Helen died in 2007, at age 93, and was a member of St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, Legion of Mary, the Rosary/Altar Sodality #6, and St. Anne's Society. Like her sisters, Helen was very devoted to her church and faith, and she cherished the opportunity to take Communion to the homebound for many years.

Stella, who lived to age 91, was the last of the sisters to pass away in 2008, at her residence in Bay City, Michigan. Stella worked for the State of Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) for 48 years. She started there as a clerk/typist, but worked her way up to the position of manager for the MESC Bay City branch. Stella was well-liked and respected by her coworkers, and the Bay MESC received numerous job placement awards from the State of Michigan while Stella was at the helm.

In 1968, Stella earned a Master's Degree in guidance and counseling from the University of Michigan by attending evening classes. A 2008 St. Stan's bulletin memorial announcement indicates Stella was also a commissioned Lay Minister, active with the Legion of Mary, and visited the hospital and homebound with Holy Communion every Sunday. Of all Stella's awards and accomplishments, the one she valued most was a Papal Blessing she received...

Nouvel Students Benefit from Generosity and Good Fortune

The Catholic Community Foundation of Mid-Michigan endowment for Barbara Shaffran began with a stroke of luck.

When her son Paul won $5,000 in the Nouvel Catholic Central Elementary Athletic Association Big Draw Raffle years ago, her husband Charles suggested he donate the money to the Foundation in memory of his mother who died in 2012. And Charles matched it.

Since 2013, Charles has made monthly contributions to the Barbara Shaffran Endowment for Nouvel Elementary School (formerly St. Thomas Aquinas Elementary). The fund has grown to nearly $27,000 with annual disbursements starting in 2014.

“My wife was so involved in the church and St. Thomas Aquinas Elementary School when our three children attended there,” Charles Shaffran said. “She was on the school board, participated in all kinds of school projects and fundraisers, and volunteered at the school library. The endowment is a way to help the school now and into the future. There always is a need.”

Charles said he and his wife joined St. Thomas Aquinas Parish in Saginaw Township in 1969. Both came from good Catholic families and both attended Catholic schools. “We felt that it was important for our children to have a background in their faith and a good education. The endowment helps provide the same for other families,” he said.

Phil Strauss, director of finance for Nouvel Catholic Schools, said the annual disbursement provides needed tuition assistance. “The Barbara Shaffran Endowment Fund helps us fulfill our mission of offering a Catholic education to any family that needs help. We are grateful that we can count on the annual funds,” he said.

Barbara’s daughter Susan Moody said her mother had a servant heart. “Growing up as children we watched her give and volunteer wherever help was needed,” she said. She remembered that her mother would bring loose change to help students pay for overdue books when she volunteered in the student library. A piece of artwork commissioned by Fr. Randy Kelly still hangs in the elementary school library in her honor.

Jill Friebe, Barbara’s older daughter, echoed that her mother was always at the school. She was President of Home and School, a Brownie and Girl Scout leader, homeroom mom and helped deliver hot lunches. She also was the first school nurse. “If the school called and said they needed help, my mom would go,” Jill said.

The daughters agree that they continued their mother’s legacy by sending their own children to Nouvel Catholic Elementary, volunteering on school boards and committees, and at St. Thomas Aquinas Church. “My mother instilled in us the spirit of volunteering our time, talent and treasure,” Jill said. “That is how we grew up and that is how we were taught.”

The Catholic Community Foundation of Mid-Michigan (CCFMM) is honored to play a role in keeping alive the memory of Barbara Shaffran. In addition to administering the Barbara Shaffran Endowment, the CCFMM has over 250 funds — endowed, scholarship, grants and donor advised — that serve the Diocese of Saginaw. Many of the CCFMM funds, such as the Barbara Shaffran Endowment, have been established in memory of a loved one.

Stewardship: Giving from the Heart

"As each one has received a gift, use it to serve one another as good stewards of God's varied grace." 1 Peter 4:10

What identifies a steward? Safeguarding material and human resources and using them responsibly is one answer; generous giving of time, talent, and treasure is another. As Christian stewards, we receive God's gifts gratefully, cultivate them responsibly, share them lovingly in justice with others, and return them with increase to the Lord.

There are different areas of stewardship:

Disciples as Stewards - As members of the Church, Jesus calls us to be disciples.

Stewards of Creation - God created the world, but entrusts it to human beings.

Stewards of Vocation - Each one of us—clergy, religious, lay person; married, single; adult, child—has a personal vocation.

God intends each one of us to play a unique role in carrying out the divine plan.

Stewards of the Church - We are also obliged to be stewards of the Church—collaborators and cooperators in continuing the redemptive work of Jesus Christ, which is the Church's essential mission.

Letter from the Executive Director

Dear Friends,

As the seasons change from spring to summer, we transition from the month of our Blessed Mother to June, devoted to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Thankfully, there are many expectations for an end to the pandemic and a return to stages of normalcy. May you and your family be safe, healthy and full of joyful gatherings.

In this newsletter we look back at the story of one of our first major donors — the Koncavich sisters from Bay City. Their love and generosity inspire us. They motivate us to keep working toward the goal of meeting the needs of all God's people through joyous giving in Christ. The story of Barbara Shaffran and the dedication of her family also reminds us of the value of stewardship. Each of us can play a role as good stewards during our life.

We welcome Michele Driver to our CCFMM staff as our Endowment Coordinator. Michele has over 20 years of nonprofit or not-for-profit background. She most recently worked as Training Coordinator for a professional member organization in the oil and gas industry. Prior to that Michele was the office manager for an ecumenical Christian magazine publisher.

Finally, we look forward to joyfully celebrating our 15th Anniversary. We are grateful for you, our faithful stewards of God's gifts and supporters, who allow us to secure and further God's work in the Saginaw Diocese and surrounding communities. May the Sacred Heart of Jesus continue to bless you.

Grace and Peace be with you,
