I would like to be considered for financial assistance to help with the cost of furthering my education. My parents are unable to fully support me in going to college. I know the biggest fear my parents have for me is to start my life out after college in debt or not be able to attend an out of city college/university. My parents have put me through my catholic education and I would like nothing better than to be allocated any amount of monies to go onto college to have a career and to be successful.

I have seen my parents struggle and appreciate all of their hard working dollars go towards my sisters and I catholic education. I do not want to continue to put that stress onto them knowing they will do whatever it is for me to attend anywhere of my choice because thats what they do. They put their children first and everything else second. I will be among the first of my mother's side to go to a college/university. The first grand daughter and the first of many that I hope who follow behind me in furthering their education. I would like nothing better, but to continue to make an impact on my family, but for myself to go out into the community and expand my potential to the highest limits. I am a Mexican/Caucasian women and I would like to broaden who I am to a world who awaits me. But in order to do so I would need financial assistance to help with this success.

To whom it may concern,

Over the past four years, I have had the pleasure of getting to know Marinna Collison as both her teacher and soccer coach. Marinna is a very determined young lady with a drive to succeed.

In the classroom, Marinna does not shy away from a challenge. Being a math teacher, I often see students shut down during a struggle and give up. However, I do not see this with Marinna. While she may get frustrated, she always pushes through the struggle with hard work to gain the necessary understanding to succeed.

On the soccer field, Marinna has been an incredible asset to our team. She leads the team with confidence and welcoming to young, new players. Marinna has been an essential part of the growth of our team and the fostering of the close-knit relationship among the players. As a coach, it is enjoyable to watch someone with her work-ethic play the game and share her love of the game with others.

Marinna will be a wonderful addition to whatever university she attends and will be a great example to her peers of a dedicated and hardworking young lady.

Thank you,

Aubrey Walker
